 stand? But Thou, O Lord, art to be feared For Thy for - giv - ing hand.

4. My soul does for the Lord await
 While hoping in His word;
 Much more than men who watch for day
 My soul waits for the Lord.

5. Hope in the Lord, O Israel,
 Whose hope and mercy sure
 Will overshadow all thy sins
 And cause thee to be pure.

6. Eternal light upon them shine
 Unto all ages, Lord,
 With all Thy saints, for Thou art good
 And e'er to be adored.

 STUTTGART 87 87

1. Saints of God, O come to aid him*; An - gels, go his soul to meet.
 2. May Who called thee now re - ceive thee, He Who Shep-herd is and Lamb,
 3. Saints of God, O come to aid him*; An - gels, go his soul to meet,

1. May the An - gels lead the un - to Pa - ra - dise, thy heav'n - ly home.
 2. May the choirs of An - gels take thee And may thou, with La - za - rus,

First re - ceive and then pre - sent him For the Lord of Lords to see.
 And may all the An - gels lead thee To the breast of A - bra - ham.
 First re - ceive and then pre - sent him For the Lord of Lords to see.

May the mar - tyrs all re - ceive thee, Show - ing thee Je - ru - sa - lem.
 He who once was poor, en - joy the Fruits of thine e - ter - nal rest.

* As indicated in the liturgical books, gender pronouns (him, her, they, etc.) may be adapted to agree with the deceased in gender and in number for verses 1 and 3 of "Saints of God." If the number is changed, the word "soul" must also be changed to "souls" to agree with the number.
