

NEWSPEAK THEOLOGY BUZZWORD GENERATOR

James Sterling Corum

Laymen! No matter how well educated you are, no matter how much Latin you had in school, are you flummoxed every time you try to read the modern theologians? even if you speak English as well as Shakespeare are you made to feel inferior by priests, nuns, and religious bureaucrats every time you attend a meeting because you don't understand terms like integral liturgical structure and alter native community context? Well, with my system there's no need ever to be embarrassed again!

All you need is my Newspeak Theology Buzzword Generator! With this word generator you can impress your bishop, awe the theologians, and acquire a brilliant command of theological language--all in the time that it takes you to cut out my vocabulary system.

Here's how it works: Take any word at random from each of the columns below and run them together. You might pick ongoing from column 1, ecumenical from column 2 and experience from column 3. Put them together and you have an Ongoing Ecumenical Experience. More than 4,000 impressive buzzwords can be formed from this generator--and I guarantee that every one is absolutely meaningless!

To create even more possibilities, most of the words can be augmented by prefixes such as eco, hyper, inter, multi, macro, non, socio, super, trans, ultra etc. and by suffixes such as ological and ometric.
