

Thirty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time: Antiphons

ICEL

10th November, 2013

Paul J. Prochaska,
from other sources

Let my prayer come into your presence.
Incline your ear to my cry for help, O Lord.
(Cf. Psalm 88 (87):3)

In the Day of the Lord (Ridge, M.D.) GAB13-286 BB13-588

Voice

Let my prayer— come in - to your pre - sence. In - cline your ear— to my cry— for help, my cry for help, O Lord.

3

The Lord is my shepherd; there is nothing I shall want.
Fresh and green are the pastures where he gives me repose,
near restful waters he leads me.
(Cf. Psalm 23 (22):1-2)

Or:
The disciples recognized the
Lord Jesus in the breaking of bread.
(Cf. Luke 24:35)

My Shepherd Is the Lord (Gelineau, SJ, Joseph) GAB13-667 BB13-756

The Lord is my shep-herd; there is no-thing I shall want.

9

Fresh and green are the pas - tures where he 10

gives me re- pose, near rest - ful wa - ters he leads me.---